

One rule for the

PLACE ON UNION NOTICEBOARD

executives, another for postal workers

It is becoming more and more clear that the Federal Government believe one rule applies to the Australia Post executive group and their 35% pay rise, while ordinary postal workers are asked to swallow just 2%.

Watch the video below to see Senator Sam Dastyari's questioning of Communications Minister Mitch Fifield and his Departmental representatives earlier this morning (external internet access required).

Yours faithfully,

Nick Townsend
CWU Branch Secretary

Connecting
our community

